PORTSMOUTH NAVAL DRY DOCK

Only One Large Enough to Take the Next Great New Battleship

The officials at the Boston navy yard had their eyes opened on Friday, Oct. 29, when the Dreadnaught North Dakota arrived there for docking. When the big fighter entered the dock it was found that there were but a few inches to spare on either side.

It was then discovered why the officials of the Fore River Shipbuilding company and Captain Thomas E. Evans wanted to dock here at Portsmouth.

The dock here is twenty feet wider and, when the Florida is ready for docking it will be found that the dock here is the only one wide enough to take her.

The Florida is ten feet wider. The politicians insisted that the North Dakota dock at Boston and she did.

PLEASANT STREET DECORATED
Ash Barrels and Contents Thrown in Street Friday Night

Somebody with nothing to do, and a head full of mischief was busy on Friday evening all along Pleasant street and as a result somebody is having a growl and lots of unnecessary work today.

The barrels which the street department is to pick up when it's men have time, were anywhere but the right place this morning, and the contents strewn from one side of the thoroughfare to the other.

Some list should be issued giving the day that such rubbish will be collected and the people will know whether they are to wait a day or a week for the collectors, who now come any old time. Such announcement would no doubt put an end to the sight of these barrels, boxes and cans on Sunday.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Great Sport on Miller Avenue—and the Ice Cream Went Good

A few days ago, a party of young people planned a surprise for one of the friends residing on Miller avenue and the same was to be in the form of a party.

To complete the list of refreshments they ordered a variety of ice cream sent to one of the neighbors in order that the party to be surprised would not detect anything in connection with the event to come off.

The ice cream committee, it appears were not on their job and slipped up when they did not inform the neighbor across the street that the cream was to be sent there and concealed it until the arrival of party for the celebration.

The family guarding the delicate brand of refreshment went on a hunt to locate the owner of the cream, but failed in every quarter.

The only thing left was to get busy and the dishes and spoons were soon in action. About midnight the family were aroused from their slumbers and asked to give up the rest of the ice cream which they gladly did and lost half of the night's sleep trying to straighten the matter out.

Bring on Your Fast Ones and Meet the Plumber

A well known local plumber states that the owners of those fancy bred horses at the Creek are not going to have things all their own way, and when he puts his new pacer on the track the championship will go to another part of the city.

SCALDED AND BURNED ON TRIAL TRIP

North Dakota in Lower Harbor with Four Men Injured, the Result of Boiler Tube Blowing Out—Big Ship Making New Records When Accident Happened.

While tearing her way through the narrowest for the proper medical care seas at the rate of 21.75 knots an hour in her four-hours test, the world's champion Dreadnaught North Dakota, blew out a tube of one of her boilers and critically injured four of the firemen and for a time stopped the record-breaking work of the latest of Uncle Sam's fighting ships.

The injured men are: A. Peterson, John Soudan, William Granger of Quincy, Mass., and Peter McConnell of Boston.

The big ship left Rockland for her four-hours test shortly after nine o'clock Friday morning and with favorable conditions other than a head wind, the ship started on her four-hours run at top speed. Everything was working beautifully and a new record had been created for the first and second hour, and they were at top speed on the third hour and nearly at the end, when at 12.15 the accident happened. The ship was traveling in a direct course from Rockland for Boston Light and was going at 21.75 knots an hour, when an explosion was heard followed by the rush of steam out of the aft fireroom. A four-inch boiler tube had blown out on the outboard side and the steam of the four boilers in that set, all being connected, rushed into the fireroom, horribly scalding the firemen before they could make their escape. Although they first sought refuge in the coal bunkers, but the doors failed to work and they escaped by ladder. The speed of the big ship at once slackened under the loss of the four boilers and a few minutes after she had passed the three hour time.

As soon as Captain Thomas B. Evans, the pilot in charge and General Manager H. G. Smith of the Fore River Shipbuilding company saw the nature of the men's injuries, the ship's course was changed and she was headed for this harbor, it being the nearest for the proper medical care of the injured men.

At the time of the accident the ship was many miles outside of Cape Ann, and at a fast clip, but with four boilers out, the ship raced for the harbor, arriving here shortly before three o'clock. As the ship came abreast of Whiteback light, Captain Evans blew four blasts of the whistle for a tug boat, and Captain Hall, of the Wood Island life-saving station, telephoned to Portsmouth and the tug M. Mitchell Davis came down at once. The life-saving crew also put off and boarded the ship as she dropped anchor inside of Fort Point, and were asked to telephone the navy yard and have the ambulance meet the tug boat and the injured men at the coaling wharf, within a short distance of the naval hospital. This they did, and as soon as Captain Wilner, U. S. N., the yard commandant, received the message he called the doctors of the ships to report at the hospital, as it was thought that the injuries were very serious.

As soon as the tug arrived the men were taken aboard, and with Manager Smith, General Foreman H. E. Frick and others from the company, the injured men were taken to the hospital.

All four men are badly scalded about the face, neck and hands, and Soudan is burned about the back and legs. Unless complications set in, all four will recover, but they will be at the hospital for at least three weeks. All four men were in the fire room when the tube blew out, and before they could rush to safety they were surrounded with the live steam. Soudan was in the act of shoveling coal into the firebox when the escaping steam blew the live coals out into the fireroom and as he turned to escape he was showered with red-hot coals. McConnell was back

"MAXWELL" MODEL Q 2

With rear seat for two passengers. Rear seat is detached quickly and easily. The box forming the base for rear seat furnishes tool box and carrying space of ample capacity.

MODEL Q-2

MOTOR—3 1/4 x 4 inches. IGNITION—Double, Magneto and Battery. TRANSMISSION—Sliding-gear, three speeds and reverse. WHEELBASE—93 inches. WHEELS 30 inches. TIRES—30 x 3 1/2 inches. PRICE—$950. Gas lamps extra.

All the cardinal Maxwell principles of design and construction are combined also in this latest addition to the Maxwell, the Model Q. Engine case and transmission housing are, as in all former Maxwell models, one unit and the whole is supported in the frame at three points.

The transmission is of the sliding-gear type, giving three speeds forwards and a reverse; this gives the Model Q a flexibility and a range of speed not approached by cars equipped with planetary transmissions.

The multiple-disk clutch permits of a greater ease in starting and gives the operator absolute control of the motion of his car in crowded traffic.

The magneto is mounted immediately behind the engine in such a way that it may be inspected through a trap door in the floor board, making the raising of the hood unnecessary. The transmission case is accessible without disturbing the magneto.

The engine itself is of unusual power for a light weight car, its dimensions being 3 1/4 x 4 inches, with very large valve openings, which results in delivery of the full power.

GREENLAND

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lord last Sunday went to Farmington, where they attended the funeral services of an uncle of Mr. Lord. They arrived home late in the evening.

The Sea Breeze, an interesting little paper published by the Boston Seaman's Friend society, announces among its September collections $19.25 from the local Congregational church.

Dr. Percy Drake and Mrs. Drake will go to the Philippines early next month to the station where the doctor has been ordered to report for duty.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed by the Congregational church next Sunday.

The Howard standard four face tower clock, given by Simeon S. and Abby Barrell Brackett, in memory of their children, to be known as the Ellen and Colborn memorial, has been placed in position on the steeple at the Congregational church edifice and the work connected with it completed. It has been also formally presented to and accepted by the town as a gift. Already its sweet tones are falling pleasantly on the listening ear as it steals into our quiet dwellings in the silent watches of the night, its voice distinct as a passing footfall or soft and low in its greeting by the wayside paths.

A marble tablet with the following inscription has been placed upon the wall in the vestibule of the Congregational church, "The clock on this church is given to the town of Greenland by Simeon S. and Abby B. Brackett in memory of their children Ellen Augusta and Colborn Barrell Brackett, October 1909."

Another memorial to Ellen exists in Smith college. The class members of '94, who lived in the Hubbard House with Ellen, raised a sum of money and gave to the college as a memorial fund to be used for needy students. The fund will be perpetuated, for money loaned must be repaid in time.

Mrs. Harry Winslow is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John W. Weeks. The latter recently passed a few days in Boston and Mrs. Winslow returned with her.

Mrs. A. J. Norton is visiting her niece, Mrs. Maud Kimball, of Dorchester, Mass.

Mr. Louis Barnabec, who has been foreman at George A. Coleman's farm has moved his family into the Berry house owned by J. E. Seavey.

Mr. Samuel Sanderson who has lately purchased the farm (formerly the old town farm) buildings and stock of George A. Coleman, has this week been moving his household effects here.

The next whist party will be held at the club room Oct. 12. At the last party which occurred on the evening of Oct. 25th, the lady's prize was secured by Miss Haskell. Gentleman's prize was awarded to Dr. D. C. McLachlan.

CUNARD LINE STEAMSHIPS

In view of the increasing travel from New England to Italy and Egypt, the Cunard Line has again arranged attractive cruises by the well known steamers "Carmania" and

"Caronia," and our readers will be especially interested to learn that the "Saxonia," so favorably known in Boston-Liverpool trade, for her comfort and steadiness will be despatched on three special trips from New York to Italy.

When it is remembered that these steamers belong to the same line that produced and operate the "Lusitania" and "Mauritania" enough is said.

Special sailings have been arranged from Boston to Queenstown and Liverpool by the popular "Ivernia," "Pannonia" and "Ultonia."

APPLES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

As this paper has before mentioned, the Boston and Maine railroad maintains an information bureau, located in the city of Concord and presided over by Warren T. Billings. This bureau devotes its energies to finding locations with natural resources, adapted to different lines of business on one hand, and on the other hand, searches for parties with the necessary means and adaptability for establishing and carrying on such lines of business as these locations furnish opportunity for. Or in other words, performs the functions of a promoters' clearing house. Like all other business conducted on a modern and successful plan it devotes considerable attention to its advertising department. This bureau is of inestimable assistance to the development of the state and to such help as individuals are able to lend. It is of course true that the railroad is not expending money for the maintenance of this department for the benefit of the state alone, but because by taking a broad view of the situation, it sees indirect benefit to the road to be derived from the general development of the state.

One of the notable works of this bureau is a handsome pamphlet recently issued on "Apples in New Hampshire."

In this pamphlet it is stated that: "Modern conditions and demands have apple growing a profitable industry. Not many years ago there were periods when the delicious fruit was almost a drug on the market, when the farmers did not have to grow apples; all they did was to pick them from the trees. Time has worked changes in this direction, however, no less wonderful than many others. Conditions developed the fact that a much better apple could be raised by cultivation and care than by the haphazard method of letting the trees look out for themselves. Then, when people found the better apple, they were not satisfied with the old-style irregular and uneven crop. They wanted the best, and, in many instances, the farmers of the New England states were not prepared to furnish the best. Gradually the position of supremacy slipped away. Except in remote instances the owners of orchards were unequal to the task of improving their fruit they let things shape themselves. Their trees ran down; their fruit became unattractive; they were outshipped by newer growers from out in the West. For many years apples were so plenty and cheap in New England that the farmers failed to recognize advisability of putting time and money into what appeared to be an unprofitable crop, and they gave no attention to the gradually changing conditions. When apples improved in appearance and texture the demand grew stronger. Soon there were no cheap apples. Then the demand exceeded the supply and the western growers found it profitable to ship their product thousands of miles to the markets which once had been claimed exclusively by the New England growers. It was time for the awakening. It has come; but neither the half nor the quarter has as yet been accomplished. While the western growers have outstripped the eastern in the general adoption of scientific and modern methods for the growing of apples and have sent fruit to the New York and Boston markets which is a positive delight to the eye, they lack one of the most essential and kindest gifts of nature—flavor. No matter how large and regular, or how brilliantly and even colored, a western apple may be, its taste is not to be compared to the average product of a New England tree. As the Cuban tobacco excels Pennsylvania "Dutch" in flavor and aroma so is the New England apple superior to the western growth. Washington, Idaho and Oregon may send us specimens from irrigated lands which attract the eye and gratify the artistic sense, but the beauty is truly only skin deep and the pulp loses in taste much more than the skin has made up in appearance."

In a recent address before the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Horticultural Society, at Peterboro, Mr. Billings, the leader of this bureau, spoke as follows: "It is within the province of a transportation company to call attention to the resources of the state and demonstrate the advantages which exist. A railroad, properly, may give attention to detail and explain to intending enterprises the advantages of location and particularize on the conditions relating to labor and markets. Then the enterprises must develop itself through the efforts of the people connected with it and those who are interested in the welfare of the state. With the products of the enterprise the railroad again concerns itself. It must afford good service at reasonable rates, to reach the markets of the world, and its managers must bear in mind the good of the community and their duties to the owners of the transportation company, the stockholders. There are several problems for mutual consideration: The young men and young women are needed at home; conditions may be made pleasant for help; the utilization of waste lands should be considered; there is room for devising the best methods of telling others about the state; the fact that obstacles are not limited to our particular community but are prevalent everywhere should be emphasized; market conditions in different sections should be studied; particular requirements of localities need to be brought to public attention; all the privileges of New Hampshire should be remembered and its disadvantages forgotten."

New Hampshire will be developed as closely as old Belgium or Holland if the Boston and Maine railroad keeps up this programme in an efficient manner.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS

What are the Facts?

Was the tariff passed by Congress so much in favor of New England as the western senators and representatives claim?

If so, what sort of a kick have the people of New England to hand out to the Republican party for their action in the passage of a tariff bill that increased on 220 items, decreased on 154 items and allowed 1150 items to remain unchanged.

The increase was on luxuries valued at two hundred and forty million dollars and the decrease on articles valued at five billion dollars.

Is the tariff responsible for the increased price of beef, pork, eggs, potatoes, butter, horses, hay and flour, all raised by farmers?

If in olden times farmers made it pay with eggs twelve cents per dozen, butter twelve cents per pound, pork six cents, potatoes at fifteen cents per bushel, horses for fifty dollars and all other products about twenty-five per cent of present prices what on earth is to prevent farmers from getting rich at present prices unless they want to be gentlemen farmers.

The idea of trying to make the workers believe that the tariff had anything to do with the enormous increased price of these necessities of life is all rot.

The result in Massachusetts cannot be laid to the tariff, but to the mar of straw built up by the recent convert to democracy, and his money who failed to be appreciated by the Republican party and wanted some excuse for deserting his party. He is undoubtedly poorer by a hundred thousand dollars, and knows more than he did a few weeks ago.

If the accusations made by the western senators and representatives are true then the people of New England should endorse the Republican party.

There is no doubt it was a campaign of misrepresentation and is another evidence of the over zealousness which is often the case with new converts.

REPUBLICAN.

A TIMELY TOPIC

BY
REV. A. P. RECORD.
Church of the Unity, Springfield

The Gospel

of Work.

WORK is demanded by the spirit of the age. All that men prize is the result of their effort or of that of their fellow-men. This is so evident that it is often made the basis of social justice. It is assumed that any man who takes from the general store of the products of industry without rendering an equivalent in terms of labor or of capital, which is simply the stored up labor of other days, perpetrates an injustice to society and to his fellow-men.

Work is a moral agent. It ministers to health, trains the mind, disciplines the will and promotes habits of self-direction and self-control—all of which make for character.

Work is a means of spiritual communion. The workers in the same shop feel their community of interest. The members of a labor union reveal a capacity for mutual helpfulness and self-sacrifice which often puts the members of the Christian church to shame. From this recognition of human brotherhood it is only a step to the thought of the divine fatherhood and to the conviction that all are fellow-laborers with God. The father works because it is a necessity of his nature. The sons work because they are partakers of that nature and under the same divine necessity.

It is too much to hope that a wider recognition of this larger conception of the meaning and significance of work will offer a final solution of the so-called labor problem? The conditions which create this problem are those of misunderstanding and distrust rather than selfishness and greed.

The employee must be made to feel that he has a stake in the success of his employers' business and the employer that he has a stake in the welfare and contentment of the employee.

They are both alike parts of a social order in which all are workers—workers with God and for man—and in which an equitable distribution of the products of labor should secure to each man his due. This does not demand a new code of industrial ethics or a new chapter in political economy. It demands only an influx of the spirit of brotherliness and good-will into the hearts and lives of men and through them into all social relations and institutions.

MELLEN STEPS INTO BREACH

Adjusts the Wage Trouble of New Haven Railway Clerks

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—President Mellen stepped into the wage trouble of the 2300 freight clerks and the New Haven railroad Friday afternoon, and in two hours a new agreement was signed. The demands of the clerks were compromised. They asked for a minimum salary of $2 per day. Their minimum daily wage is now $1.65.

It is believed that the new minimum daily scale is about $1.85. Mr. Mellen has promised to adjust, if some conditions.

In some cases clerks are kept at work thirteen hours daily, they claim, and there has been a feud between the railroad way clerks and the government mail agents about weighing the mail bags.

The clerks say that they would have ordered a general strike before the close of the week had not President Mellen intervened.

BROOKLYN

DRY DOCK

Scheme by Which It Will Perhaps by Constructed

Washington, Nov. 6.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Frederick Holbrook of the Boston firm, Holbrook, Cabot and Rollins corporation, reached an agreement under which the Boston concern will undertake to complete the construction of a drydock at the Brooklyn navy yard, designed to accommodate the new "Dreadnought" battleships.

The agreement was reached after several days' negotiations. Secretary Meyer being anxious to have work begun at once, as there have been long delays in building the dock, two contractors being obliged to stop work owing to the discovery of quicksands in the excavation.

The bid of the Holbrook company, the lowest of four received by the department, was $1,360,000. Secretary Meyer was unable to accept it because the department of justice held that the government could not bind itself to expend more than $1,000,000 on the dock, that amount being available aside from a balance due the last contractors.

After consulting the solicitor of the navy department and other advisers, Mr. Meyer hit upon a method of completing the work without violating the law against the creation of deficits. An agreement was prepared, which Mr. Holbrook read and approved Friday after talking with Secretary Meyer and Assistant Secretary Vinthrop. It will be signed and work will commence next Monday.

Under the agreement the Holbrook Cabot and Rollins corporation undertakes to finish the dock, for which it is proposed to pay the company the actual cost of construction and 10 per cent in addition as profit. Mr. Meyer has promised to ask congress for an increased appropriation to provide for completing the dock.

The department reserves the right to revoke the agreement at will and it has an option of accepting the original bid of the contractors within sixty days after the end of the coming session of congress. Meanwhile all of the money paid to the contractors will be deducted from the amount of their bid.

Should congress fail to make the necessary appropriation this winter the company will finish the dock and then file a claim with congress for the balance of the actual cost plus 10 per cent. This claim will have the backing of the navy department.

Milkmen Haled Into Court

Ohio Lad won Cross Country Run

A Case of Scarlet Fever on Cass Street

The Mormons Are Proselyting in the Town

Exeter, Nov. 6.—Friday was a busy one in police circles, three cases being disposed of. Two milk dealers, William Hilliard of Kingston and L. H. Ward of North Hampton, were charged with attempting to sell milk adulterated with water. Their cases were handled by County Solicitor Charles H. Batchelder of Portsmouth for the state, and they procured for their counsel, Arthur O. Fuller of Exeter, Judge H. A. Shute heard the case, and from evidence produced, he held both for the grand jury at the April term of superior court on a bond of $200. The other case was a Nottingham action, brought against Edwin A. Moody of that town, who was charged with an assault on Harry L. Linscott, was going to his work. It was alleged that Moody came from his house and attacked him, bruising his head and other parts of the body. Linscott alleged that the only cause for such action was over a law suit which they were both involved in last May, and the defense was that Linscott had told stories regarding his wife. Moody was held for the grand jury also, under the sum of $200 bonds. County Solicitor Batchelder handled this case also, and Judge Thomas Leavitt appeared for the defendant.

Among the academy alumni who have arrived for the game, are William Wood, '98, of Piqua, O.; and George N. Hersey, '99, of Boston.

The second man was A. F. Nye, '12, of Fairhaven, Mass.; and the third place fell to G. C. Shedd, '09, of Keene, W. J. Bligh, '12, the scratch man, finished about middle way of the bunch.

ARRESTED IN NOVA SCOTIA

Men Known in This City Are Charged with Robbery

Two men with somewhat of a record in police circles and known in this city, attempted a bold holdup at Dartmouth, N. S., on Friday. These men, C. L. Gallagher and Herbert E. Fausett, were arrested here by the police the past summer, when they attempted to sell bicycles, claiming the machines were their own property and that they had rode from Boston, and were on the way to a camp in Maine.

The reason given for the attempt to dispose of the machines was that they were tired of riding and would go by train the rest of the way. The police could find no evidence to hold them and they were released. When arrested here they were questioned by Inspector Shields of Boston, who was here hunting Bruhin, the crook, and he decided there was nothing to hold them on.

The story sent out from Halifax relative to the case is as follows: Fleeing today from highway who tried to rob him of a bag containing more than $3000, George Foote was wounded by one of the desperadoes. The wound is not serious.

Foote was returning with the money from a bank to the Dartmouth Rope Works in a carriage, accompanied only by a driver. In a lonely spot two masked and armed men jumped out of the woods and tried to stop the carriage, ordering Foote to deliver the money. The driver whipped up the horses and the highwaymen were soon distanced, but one of them discharged a revolver and the bullet entered Foote's cheek. The highwaymen were captured by a posse of police and citizens. Both were heavily armed.

Seventy years of experience with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral have given us great confidence in it. We strongly recommend it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and the third place fell to G. C. Shedd, '09, of Keene, W. J. Bligh, '12, the scratch man, finished about middle way of the bunch.

ADVENTIST CONFERENCE
Closing Work of the Meetings Held at Rochester

Rochester, Nov. 6.—Friday marked the closing of the three-day session of the New Hampshire Christian Advent conference. A large amount of business has been done, and much interest has been shown here in the different meetings.

The business meeting Friday was to close up the work of the conference, and the passing of the resolutions, thanking the pastor, Rev. Frank H. Libby, and the members of the Advent church of this city for the entertainment given the visitors.

The date of the next conference was set for November 1910, but the place was not decided upon by the conference. The forenoon after the business meeting was spent in a social service, led by Rev. J. L. McLaughlin, president of the conference. In the afternoon the sermon was preached by Rev. W. T. Fottle of Wolfeboro, and in the evening an evangelistic service was held, conducted by Rev. J. A. Gardner, secretary of the conference of Concord.

At the North church chapel on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, the Inasmuch Circle of King's Daughters will present Mrs. Mary Hallie Bartlett of Boston, the pleasing author entertainer.

It is rumored that the steamship company will not do anything before next spring.

Theatrical To Do of the Day.

"The Candy Shop." The quietly new in its scenes and its characters. One of the acts passed in a candy shop—a feminine sort of the fashionable sort in New York.

Everybody knows about the "Candy Shop." It ran all spring at the Knickerbocker Theatre New York; all summer at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago, and all the past autumn at the Tremont Theatre, Boston.

Charles Dillingham, sponsor for the Fritz Schell, Montgomery and Stone and Elsie Janis' medleys, is its sponsor.

Another scene shows a crowded Coney Island trolley car going licker-split for Coney on a hot summer's night.

Another act shows a mad corner of an amusement part of Coney Island, with all the gay tumult of jolting, helter skelters, water chutes, and "screaming" railways, in full swing.

William Rock plays a stage struck

SCENE FROM "THE CANDY SHOP."

Its cast is sensational. Rock and Fulton, the best known of all recent graduates from vaudeville are in it. So is Frank Lator, the most popular of all New England musical comedy favorites. Lucy Weston who created a sensation as a singer of uproariously funny songs with "The Follies of 1907" is also of the combination. So is Mrs. Annie Yeamens, "the grand old woman of the American stage." So are many others scarcely less well known and liked throughout the country.

soda fountain boy in the place, and Mand Fulton, a love torn candy shop girl. Comedian Frank Lator is first a quaint little tailor, next a peddler of toy balloons at Coney, and later a peddler of "hot dogs" or Coney Island sausages.

The dances of the production are said to represent the last word in stage manifests of this art, Rock and Fulton representing seven numbers introducing almost all forms or terpsichorean.

The songs include "Just We Two,"

TO BE SOON AT MUSIC HALL.

a tuneful love ballad; "Meet Me Wagon on the Corner," a dancin' ditty; "Goody Goody Go," a character comic; "The Whitewash Man," a quaint lyric, introducing novel dances and "I Used to Spoon by the Light of the Moon," a serio-comic number presenting a medley of spectacular effects. "Ching a Long," a number introduced by Rock and Fulton, introduces them as a love-sick Chinest twain.

If you miss "The Candy Shop" you miss it all.

Denman Thompson's Great Success

Just as twenty-three years ago a preceding generation of playgoers rejoiced in the rustic simplicity and unaffected goodness of the characters of Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead" and laughed at their homely ways and rough humor, so this, the twenty-third season of the play, finds a new generation of theatregoers who mingle laughter with tears as they listen to the humor and pathos of dear Old Uncle Josh.

Although not to be taken as a model of dramatic construction, and of little moment from the viewpoint of literature, to which it should be said in justice that it does not pretend, yet, it has that atmosphere of human kindness, that sane and healthy outlook upon life and morals that render it doubly welcome as a breath of fresh air in the midst of a plethora of products of the dramatic hothouse. No effort of intellect, no strain upon the imagination, no sounding of the deeper emotions is required of an audience, and it is probably just these facts that explain in a large measure its long lease upon life.

No doubt thousands of present day playgoers date back their earliest recollections of the theatre to a performance of "The Old Homestead," and surely for the youth of the country no better introduction could be asked than this homely picture of the simple virtues and diversions of farm life in New England.

It may be seen at Music Hall next Wednesday.

"The Best of All"

The Gage Stock Company assuredly deserves the right to be called "The Best of All" in the repertoire field. They enjoy the distinction of playing to the highest average gross receipts of any popular price attraction.

This has always been rendered possible by the fact that this company always gives satisfaction always presenting a carefully selected list of plays and producing the same in a praiseworthy manner. Year after year they have been in the popular price field of amusement and this season's organization will prove no exception to the high standard they have set in the past.

Excellent plays and an excellent vaudeville company is their watchword, while new and interesting vaudeville will be introduced together with an exclusive array of educational and comedy moving pictures. Ladies' tickets limited to 250 will be on sale for the opening night.

Opening matinee, "Della of Richmond; night, Tuesday, "The Golden Rule."

Ladies' tickets.

Expert Examining Submarine Tubes of Battleship

Pay Inspector Dent Talks on Transportation of Fresh Meat
Medical Inspector L. W. Curtis concludes that the epidemic of typhoid on the Connecticut was due to the unevenness in thawing the frozen meat taken from the refrigerator and thawed out one day to be used the next day. He believes this could be avoided by cutting the meat into small pieces. Pay Inspector H. A. Dent of this navy yard, reports favorably upon the system of transporting fresh meat in vessels having no refrigerating apparatus by packing it in ice and straw.

TRYING OUT THE DIGGER

New Apparatus Put in Operation at the Coal Docks

The big coal digger on the dock of the Portsmouth Coal Company recently erected was put in operation on Friday for the first time and found to be all that is required. The apparatus is the largest and only thing of its kind in this city and its operation was watched by numerous spectators since it started who are satisfied that the digger can certainly take out coal in quick time.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Democrats—that is, the combination of a few Democrats and a few so-called Republicans—are talking of running Captain C. B. Hoyt, formerly General Hoyt, now Major Hoyt, as their candidate for mayor. Chauncey has run for about every office there is on the list and has taken defeat as a regular medicine that he likes it, so the party will no doubt run him again.

The ward committees are planning to get busy.

Names for councilmen do not appear to be coming before the public very fast.

The employees at City Hall are commencing to look pleasant.

The men to be selected as members of the Public Service Commission must be capable and honest and without too many occupations. The tax payers will insist on the right men.

The few politicians who figure that the days of graft and are to return to City Hall will be convinced of their mistake. The tax payers of Portsmouth do not propose to advance backwards.

The Autopiano for United States Flagship Chicago.

Permit me to express my endorsement of the wonderful Autopiano purchased from you some time ago. The tone and durability are most commendable. The interior player is almost human in its touch, and very simple to operate, and enables any of the men who are unable to play manually, to render the most difficult compositions in an artistic manner. I cannot speak too highly of the really wonderful and artistic AUTOPIANO, and to my mind it far surpasses any other similar instrument.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you, but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

DO YOU REALIZE THE PROFIT POSSIBILITIES OF Apples and Strawberries in New Hampshire?

If not it will pay you to study the situation. We shall be glad to aid by sending you, for a two-cent stamp, the booklets we have issued on the subject. One may live "like a king" if he devotes himself to the production of fruits and berries in New Hampshire.

BY THE WAY, the value of New Hampshire farms has increased fifty per cent. in the past ten years. Another decade will witness as marked an advance. This is the time to buy and get busy—not in 1916.
